花園可以供居民大人和兒童的活動。景觀概念必須尊重原有環境條件，設計師充分利用現有的空間，將自然環境與建築環境相結合，創造一個「假土地」與城市環境相融合的空間。為了豐富花園環境，設計師採用了多種植物，包括多年生植物、多年生植物、常綠植物和多年生植物。這些植物不僅美化了環境，也為居民提供了更多的活動空間。

除了四層高的兒童遊樂場外，還設有兒童的彩色沙坑和遊戲區。兒童遊戲區是一個小戶外遊戲場，位於花園的中心。定制的玻璃護欄賦予了這座花園獨特的色彩和形式，使居民能夠更好地享受這座花園。

This new 20-story luxury tower located on Manhattan's Upper East Side features a 16,000 SF common roof garden as one of the building's primary marketing amenities. Named and inspired by the serene Georgia Pond in East Hampton Village, like White Site Architects has design the roof terrace to capture the spirit of a retreat amidst tall private gardens. The building is geared to appeal to the "Family Modern" set, families who are drawn to traditional neighborhoods but want to live in modern residences.

The garden accommodates for both adult and children's activities. Landscape concepts emerged from the need to respect environmental conditions, take advantage of views to the East River and create a sense of "lake ground." State-of-the-art green roof technologies are used to support a natural turf lawn panel and sustainable communities of coastal grasses, perennials, evergreen shrubs and multi-colored shade has provided an enticing garden environment. Amenities including a wet bar, outdoor kitchen, grill, dining space and a natural stone bench are carefully crafted and knitted together to provide for a variety of adult uses.

The play area on the western roof was designed for young children and provides an environment that inspires creativity and permits interactive play. A small outdoor stage for children's theater is central to the play area. Custom designed fiberglass play mazes and hoops in a variety of colors are incorporated and built on the theme of encouraging children to invent play opportunities, interact and develop imaginative skills. ☺
